ALL DIXIE PASSENGERS ARE TAKEN OFF

STORIES OF CALM COURAGE RELATED BY ALL SURVIVORS

ACTION OF OFFICERS AND CREW AS WELL AS PASSENGERS GIVEN PRAISE

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press.)

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Swiftly and uneventfully, the last group of passengers was removed today from the stranded and battered liner Dixie, their perilous prison since last Monday night.

In less than three hours, the last of the 143 marooned passengers was transferred.

The life boats shuttled over placid waters, the howling hurricane that crippled the Dixie and ground her against the talons of French Reef, death trap of the Florida Keys, having spent its force.

Aboard the hapless Dixie, still pinioned ot the reef, remained Captain E. W. Sundstrom and a skeleton crew. Captain Sundstrom, who thinks there has been no decadence among sea-faring men—that masters of modern vessels are just as cool and efficient as the skippers of the old-time sailying ships—stayed with his ship that the Morgan line might keep possession of her.

All of the passengers gone, he wirelessed coast guard offices at Jacksonville that it was no longer necessary for cutters to stand by the Dixie.

He commanded a ship that may never float again in the opinion of experienced seafarers.

An Associated Press reporter who flew over the scene said the Dixie listed to starboard—a towering hulk stuck fast three and one-half miles from shore.

The resistless surging of the waters forcing her more deeply into the sand.

Tales of unflinching courage—of passengers singing while the world seemed to crash about them and death appeared imminent—were related by the rescued.

"It seemed all hell broke loose," said John Laycock, of Baton Rouge, La. "The ship began to toss and rock, helplessly, great waves breaking all around and over the superstructure.

"Water came pouring in from somewhere. The heavy metal lid of one hatchway was wrenched off. That lid must have weighed a ton. Water came into the staterooms. In all of them, it was one to six inches deep.

"All through the ship was wreckage."

Throughout the tempest, Laycock said, passengers kept up their courage.

Laycock was brought to a local

EXTENSIVE PROGRAM ROAD IMPROVEMENTS TO BE RECOMMENDED

NAVARRO COUNTY PLANNING BOARD APPROVES PROJECTS SUBMITTED

Projects providing for 783 man years in an extensive program of gravelling, oiling and improving more than 200 miles of lateral roads within Navarro county were approved by the Navarro county planning board at a meeting held at the courthouse Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The projects were submitted by A. F. Mitchell, county engineer, who took over the work five days ago. The total estimated expenditures, county and federal, will approximate $400,000, and will give many communities oiled, crushed-rock treated and graveled roads connecting with towns and highways in practically every portion of the county, and work in clearing away obstructions, etc., in levee improvement districts.

The planning board met again Thursday afternoon and later the commissioners court approved the projects, and they were rushed to the district offices in Palestine.

The projects Thursday do not include Corsicana city projects and some other proposals already under way in the county.

Small Cost to County.

The total cost to the federal government under the plans will amount to $292,006.14, to the county, $42,735.88—grand total of $403,700.01. A majority of the ex-

Allred Refuses Stay Execution For W. D. May

AUSTIN, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Governor Allred announced today he would not grant clemency to W. D. May, sentenced to electrocution early tomorrow for the murder of Jack Sturdivant in Tarrant county.

Arthur Lee Moore, Fort Worth attorney, who defended May, urged the governor to stay May's execution pending disposition of an appeal of O. D. Stevens, also sentenced to die for Sturdivant's death.

"After careful consideration of the record and all the facts that have been brought to my attention in the case of W. D. May," Governor Allred said, "I have concluded that it is my duty not to interfere with the verdict of the jury."

MRS. ROOSEVELT ATTENDS ICKES FUNERAL

Save for the presence of so many mourners of national prominence and save for the extraordinary richness of the floral tributes, which came from every part of the country, the funeral services of Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes, wife of Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, was marked by extreme simplicity. Photo at right shows Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt leaving the Ickes Hubbard Woods home at Winnetka, Ill., after the funeral services. PASSENGERS ABOARD CRUISE STEAMER ARE TAKEN OFF SAFELY

LINER DORIC AND FRENCH FREIGHTER FORMIGNY IN COLLISION OFF PORTUGAL

LONDON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Two British liners today rescued all the 736 passengers of another British ship, the S. S. Doric, after it had collided with the French S. S. Formigny in the Atlantic off the coast of portugal.

The collision occurred in a fog. The sea was calm. The passengers accepted the interruption of their holiday cruise without a sign of panic. Instead, they sang as they waited their turn at the lifeboats and sang again as they pulled away to safety.

The Cunard-White Star Line, owner of the ship, announced: "There were no casualties. All passengers have been taken off the Doric and are being taken to London. The Doric herself is sailing for Vigo under her own steam."

The rescue was accomplished by the Orion of the Orient Line and the Viceroy of India of the P. and O. Line.

The Doric is known as "Cupid's ship," for it not only cruises the Mediterranean but it established a record on one voyage of nine engagements among her passengers. There has even been a wedding on board in the chapel.

ABOARD S. S. ATENAS, Sept. 5.—(AP)—A dramatic story of how they calmly donned lifebelts while water flooded their cabins was told today by the first passengers to be taken off the liner Dixie which a tropical hurricane hurled onto treacherous French reef.

They sang while discussing prospects of death. Women climbed into their bunks to avoid getting wet.

Passengers told of a terrific twister which struck the steamer at 5:30 a. m. (central standard time). The tremendous seas washed away the ship's rudder and propeller, smashed the upper superstructure, flooded the cabins, lounge rooms and passageways.

Move Inaugurated To Retain Simmons State Prison Head

HUNTSVILLE, Sept. 5.—(AP)—A move to retain Lee Simmons as head of the Texas prison system was reported here today, backed by State Senator Gordon Burns, Representative A. T. McKinney, Jr., and others.

Huntsville business men, including Lewis Ball, were supporting a plan to induce Simmons to stay. He offered his resignation recently, effectve Nov. 1.

Ball discussed the matter at a Rotary club meeting here.

C. N. Shaver, president of the Texas State Teachers' association, and Professor S. C. Wilson of Sam Houston Teachers college, both said the prison system was in better condition than at any time they had known of it.

The move was considered at a chamber of commerce conference last night.

Minority Nagging Cause

GREENVILLE, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Fred Horton, publisher of the Greenville Banner and former member of the state prison board, charged today the constant nagging of the present board's minority group caused Lee Simmons, general manager of the prison system, to tender his resignation, effective Nov. 1.

"The people of Texas should know the real reason for the resignation of Lee Simmons," said Horton. "On the surface we were led to believe it involved a salary consideration.

"This is not a fact. The real cause for the resignation was because of the minority membership of the board constantly nagging at and endeavoring to thwart his efforts as manager.

"The people and the legislature should investigate fully the reason of this opposition and demand that the board refuse Mr. Simmons' resignation until the truth is made public."

Daughter Held Charge Beating Mother to Death

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Miss Lois Green was charged with murder today for the alleged beating to death of her mother, Mrs. Nettie E. Green, 76, head of the Christian Catholic Apostolic church.

The complaint charged that Mrs. Green was beaten to death with a glass candle stick holder.

The battered body of the church leader was found yesterday at her home, adjacent to the Zion tabernacle of the sect.

Shortly afterward, Miss Green, 37, was found in a critical condition in a gas-filled room of the

ITALIAN DELEGATES WALK OUT OF LEAGUE COUNCIL SESSION

REFUSE TO LISTEN ETHIOPIAN DELEGATES; ASK SUSPENSION OF SESSION

By WADE WERNER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

GENEVA, Sept. 5.—(AP)—An Italian spokesman announced tonight that Italy was asking the suspension of the League of Nations council session until after a telephonic conference with Premier Musoslini.

The spokesman said Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the Italian delegation to the council, wanted time for a personal talk with the head of the Italian government in order to determine Italy's subsequent course of action at Geneva.

Prior to this announcement, Italian delegates said unofficially they would demand the session's suspension to see what should be done concerning "Ethiopia's defamatory and insulting remarks about Italy."

Italian officials said they believed the fact two Italian delegates had walked out of the council chamber did not necessarily mean Italy would leave the League of Nations.

Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff of Russia told the assembled members that the league was confronted with the direct menace of military operations.

"Italy," declared Litvinoff, "does not deny this—indeed, Italy confirms it."

GENEVA, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Prof. Gaston Jeze, the representative of Ethiopia, spoke in behalf of the African empire tonight in the council of the League of Nations. When he rose to begin his ad-

Session British War Cabinet Held On Geneva Crisis

LONDON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—A virtual "war cabinet" session was called today by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin to discuss the eventualities of the Geneva crisis, particularly the possibility that Italy might demand that Ethiopia be "outlawed" from the league.

The prime minister summoned the cabinet members in a message from his vacation retreat at Aix-Les-Bains, France. It was understood he would confer with the cabinet chiefs about Britain's fighting forces, either late today or tomorrow.

TROPICAL STORM IS AGAIN HEADING FOR ATLANTIC COAST

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION LEFT BEHIND FIRST HURRICANE OF SEASON

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press.)

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 5.—A trail of death and destruction cut by the tropical hurricane across the Florida keys, relief officials estimated today, is marked with a toll of 200 to 500 lives and possibly "may reach 1,000."

President Roosevelt took a direct hand in speeding relief and rehabilitation for the storm-struck region, where war veterans in FERA camps were tragic victims, by issuing an order from his Hyde Park home that the ex-soldiers be given full care by federal forces.

At the same time he insisted that an investigation be made as to why the veterans were not evacuated before the storm's fury demolished their camps on Matecumbe Keys.

Harry L. Hopkins, FERA director, declined in Washington to reply at once to criticism of the relief administration because they did not remove the veterans from the path of the disaster. However, members of his staff, although they would not be quoted, indicated that early information was that the storm was unlikely to strike the camps.

The criticisms, along with requests for an investigation, came from the Miami Chamber of Commerce, the Coral Gables and Daytona Beach posts of the American Legion and Congressman J. Hardin Peterson of Lakeland.

In Jacksonville, Walter J. Bennett, chief meteorologist of the weather bureau, said "We did the best we could with available reports and personnel" in issuing warnings.

May Cremate Bodies.

While a number of bodies were being brought into morgues, there were 57 in Miami, workers were reported debating the question of cremating others as decomposition nis advancing rapidly and transportation is becoming more difficult as they penetrate the more devastated Matecumbe Keys.

W. P. Mooty advised his chief, Gov. Dave Sholtz, from the center of the storm area that fatalities "may reach 1,000." Other sources have placed the number at from 200 to 500, but the exact figure probably will not be known until communication has been re-established with many marooned points.

"Words cannot describe the horrible disaster," Mooty said in a telegram to the governor. "Everyone as far south as Carabee Colony has been moved out. Injured first. Now moving dead, 50 so far. Rebuilding bridges to cross Snake creek."

PUTTING EMERGENCY AGENCIES UNDER BUDGET BUREAU BELIEVED BE ROOSEVELT POLITICAL MOVE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's orders placing all emergency agencies under the budget bureau aroused speculation here today whether this might not be a move toward meeting opposition attacks on New Deal spending.

First stirrings of the approaching election campaign have indicated that heavy governmental expenditures and an unbalanced budget would figure prominently as an issue. Republican spokesmen apparently intend to keep it a live subject.

In his talk with newspapermen at Hyde Park, N. Y., yesterday, however, Mr. Roosevelt said the national emergency had passed and that his orders contemplated a reduction in employe personnel and eventual consolidation where possible.

Observers here wondered whether this meant that when congress meets in January the president would relinquish any of the emergency powers voted him to deal with the domestic crisis. Critics have seized upon these added powers also as an issue, calling them "dictatorial."

Even before he left for Hyde Park the president gave hints of moves to trim down government agencies. He arranged with heads of bureaus dealing with housing activities to prevent an overlapping of their functions. He also set Sept. 12 as a deadline for receiving applications for money from the $4,000,000,000 work funds.

Some of the largest cuts in personnel and expenditures are expected to be made in the various relief organizations. As the works program progresses, more and more states will cease to receive direct relief funds which likely will result in a reduction in administraton staffs.

SHERIFF DECLARES DYNAMITE KILLING OF ATTORNEY SOLVED

COUNTY ATTORNEY OF HARLAN, KY., KILLED BY BLAST WHEN HE STARTED AUTO

Lead Sheriff Declares

HARLAN, Ky., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Four men were arrested here today charged with the wilful murder of County Attorney Elmon Middleton of Harlan county, who was assassinated by the dynamite explosion of his automobile here Thursday.

The men were listed as Bob Farmer, Otis Noe, Fred Howard and Bill Leonard. They were arrested on warrants sworn to by Sheriff Theodore R. Middleton, cousin of the slain official, who promised a statement later in the day giving a "solution" of the murder mystery.

The prisoners were spirited away to a jail in another county not named by officials.

HARLAN, Ky., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Sheriff Theodore R. Middleton informed Judge James M. Gilbert in Harlan Circuit Court today that he had "solved" the mystery of the dynamite slaying of his cousin, County Attorney Elmon Middleton, here yesterday. PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT HAD FARLEY'S ASSURANCE THAT ALL WAS WELL DESPITE VACATION

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt went about his vacation visit at home today, reassured by Postmaster General Farley that "things are all right over the country, economically and politically."

The president is seeking to put aside political discussion at the time but tall "Jim" Farley, the chairman of the democratic national committee, conceded with a grin last night after talking at the summer White House that he had reported the "okay" upon his return across the country from a vacation trip to Hawaii.

Both Mr. Roosevelt and his intimates insist the chief executive is putting aside political discussion, at least until he goes west to the Pacific coast late this month.

The president invited in some old friends today as he turned to his study den on the first floor of the old family home on the Hudson river.

The postmaster general was accompanied yesterday by Mayor Kelly of Chicago, Robert Jackson of New York, counsel of the internal revenue bureau; C. E. Broughton, editor of the Sheboygan, Miss., press and democratic national committeeman for the state, and Vincent Dailey, head of the New York State Home Owners Loan Corporation.

Farley, questioned by newspapermen, readily predicted the "renomination and re-election" of Governor Lehman.

Asked about campaign funds, he replied "there will be no difficulty obtaining the money to run the campaign necessary to re-elect President Roosevelt."

RESCUED PASSENGERS TELL OF HEROISM OF THOSE FACING DEATH

NO HYSTERIA AMONG DIXIE'S PASSENGERS AND CREW'S ACTIONS PRAISED HIGHLY

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press.)

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Rescue of those remaining aboard the stranded liner Dixie was resumed today as passengers removed last night told of how they sang in the face of death during their agonizing wait of two nights and three days.

From Captain E. W. Sundstrom of the Dixie came this message of offices of the Morgan line in New York.

"All hands on board ship resting easily after night's rest. Started to load passengers six a. m. on launch of Warbler (salvage boat). First boat takes 20 passengers."

Meanwhile, the narrative of the marine drama was unfolded by some of the Dixie's early removed passengers.

"There was no hysteria," said Miss Florence E. Steiler, of San Francisco. "We all sang. The death which seemed to face us was discussed with unprecedented freedom.

"Fear seemed to be unknown, as we were all of the opinion we would finally be carried down."

CONFEDERATE VETERANS WEARY BUT DETERMINED TO MEET EACH YEAR AS LONG AS THREE LIVE

By VESTAL LOTT,
Associated Press Staff Writer

AMARILLO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Survivors of the gallant army of the Confederacy bowed in tribute today to the memory of Civil war comrades who no longer live.

Dimmed eyes spotted the gathering as the annual roll call drove home the realization to the feeble veterans that few of Lee's old followers remain 70 years after the four-year conflict in the 60's.

Mrs. A. McD. Wilson of Atlanta, Ga., president-general of the Confederated Southern Memorial Association, presided at the memorial service. The United Confederate Veterans and the Sons of Confederate Veterans participated. Bishop E. C. Seamon of Amarillo, paid homage to the deceased members of the three organizations.

The soldiers prepared to wind up the business of their forty fifth annual reunion this afternoon with election of officers and selection of a 1936 meeting place. They will start homeward after the grand parade tomorrow.

General Harry Rene Lee of Nashville, Tenn., adjutant-general of the staff of the U. C. V., was favored to succeed General Rice A. Pierce of Union City, Tenn., as commander-in-chief of the thinning forces of the old South.

At a meeting of the Nathan Bedford Forrest division of the U. C. V., General J. C. Hooks of Marlin, Texas, was re-elected commander. Six members of General Forrest's famed cavalry attended the reunion.

MUSSOLINI PLANS TO "CIVILIZE' ANCIENT NATION BY BLOOD AND DESTRUCTION

By A. E. STUNTZ
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

ROME, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Italy will impose its own conception of civiligation on Ethiopia, official sources insisted today.

These sources added that Mussolini is determined that Emperor Haile Selassie shall not be left to his own devices in his "backward empire."

A government spokesman reiterated that Il Duce was not bluffing when he said recently "the nation is prepared to go ahead with the league, without the league or against the league."

Italian statesmen expressed confidence that another rung would be added to the ladder by which Fascism has slowly but surely brought Italy world prestige.

These officials felt that the world at large could not fail to appreciate the point Italy has taken by Geneva to prove that the Ethiopian nation is lacking in all the requisites for membership in a society of civilied states.

HEROISM

Miss Steiler was one of the passengers taken from the Dixie, aground on French Reef, Florida Keys, by the United Fruit liner, Atenas yesterday.

Weather Halts Removals.

Before again-swelling seaas and rain forced rescue ships to abandon their work last night, 164 persons weer taken off the Dixie.

With 20 removed by the Warbler's launch, 200 persons remained on the vessel this morning.

Since the Dixie, her propeller and rudder torn away in a raging hurricane last Monday night, was tossed on French Reef, about 60 miles south of here, she was both a haven and a possible death trap for those aboard her.

To them, death seemed just over the rail, in the form of pounding, grasping waves which threatened to break the Dixie to pieces.

Yet, fully cognizant of what their fate might be, the passengers discussed it calmly, valiantly suppressing any demonstration of terror.

"There was no hysteria," said Miss Winifred Inde, of Montreal She was brought to Miami, one of a group of 134.

If any of the passengers were frightened, she added, "they stifled public show of it."

Crew Highly Praised.

The crew of the Dixie was highly praised.

"If we could only have felt as calm as the Dixie crew acted, everything would have been fine," said Mrs. J. G. Fisher, of New Orleans.

"The terrible experiences of the night at sea have been now obliterated by the wonderful heroism of the crew," Mrs. Lyda L. Sturr, of Newark, N. J., said. "Of course, we were paralyzed with fear when the lights failed and we were ordered to don lifebelts."

The graphic story of the first night of repressed terror on the imprisoned Dixie was told by Edward P. Bromwell of New York City.

"The hull of the vessel was pounded up and down by the waves and we were forced to take refuge in the saloon," he said. "After the vessel had been driven on a reef by a wind said to be 120 miles an hour at the stern, the crew did everything for our comfort.

"Short circuiting caused the lights to burn out at one time. It caused a small blaze, quickly extinguished by the crew. Several suffered bruises.

"Not a soul was hysterical."

As "proof of what we went through," Brommell told of how the hurricane damaged the Dixie.

Passengers Are Cheerful.

The passengers remaining on board were cheerful this morning Captain Sundstrom wirelessed the Morgan offices.

"Sea calm, weather favorable," he added.

Among the ships standing by the Dixie today were Morgan liners El Estero and El Captain, the coast guard cutter Saukee and two United Fruit liners.

The first of the rescue ships to dock at Miami was the Coast guard cutter Carrabassett. It carried 24 passengers.

Three other ships, docking soon after the cutter, were: The Morgan liner El Mundo, with 20 passengers; the Morgan liner El Occidente, with 36 passengers and 14 of the crew, and the United Fruit liner San Benito, with 40 of the crew.

The United Fruit liner Atenas with 20 passengers from the Dixie aboard, proceeded up the coast to Charleston and the oil tanker Reaper, with 10 passengers continued to go on to Wilmington, N. C.

Contributory Cause.

A train washout contributed to the ground of the Dixie, said Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ratner, of Sunnyside, Long Island.

A train bringing Dixie passengers from Western cities to New Orleans, Ratner explained, was delayed 11 hours awaiting repairs to a washed out track. As result the Dixie left New Orleans seven hours behind schedule.

The rain started at 11 a. m. the day of the storm, "but we expected it would be over soon," said Mrs. Ratner. "Instead, the winds increased and the waves rose higher and higher.

"Water flowed into the port holes and flooded staterooms, forcing occupants of some into the music room. It was there that some passengers were injured by being rolled back and forth on the floor.

"Members of the crew worked marvelously," said Mrs. Ratner. "They entertained us with cheerful lies to minimize our danger."

Woman Is Injured.

Efforts to aid another passenger brought a fractured right hip to Mrs. C. H. Colgin, of Brownsville, Texas.

"I had started to walk across B deck to aid an old lady who appeared to be in distress when the craft struck," said Mrs. Colgin.

"I was thrown across the deck. My right foot struck a door and before I could move in, a heavy chair struck it from the other side."

The Rev. F. A. Wekenman, of San Diego, Calif., said "Gentiles, Jews and Catholics all prayed alike for the officers and crew after the Dixie grounded."

"We knew," he said, "that if there was any chance of being saved they were the men who were going to accomplish the difficult task.

"The morale of the crew and officers gave all of the passengers confidence."

"The morale of the crew and officers gave all of the passengers confidence."

"I want to pay particular praise to the crew, which lived up to the highest traditions of the sea, and especially to William S. Belton, a steward. His efforts were untiring in cheering up the passengers. He inspired at times a spirit of levity.

"There was no hysteria. We all sang. The death which seemed to face us was discussed with unprecedented freedom. Fear seemed to be unknown, as we were all of the opinion we would finally be carried down."

Findings of the conciliation commission were cited as evidence that civilized tactics could not be employed in treating with a "barbarous" nation.

Government circles were quick to point out that the conciliation commission absolved Italy of all blame in the Ualual incident. They insisted the commission's findings were "attenuated" with regard to Ethiopia, which must necessarily serve, they said, as an indictment against Ethiopia.

COURAGE SAGA

Even though the Dixie drifted helplessly, finally going aground on French reef, near the Carysfoot reef lightship, the passengers said there was no panic aboard. They attributed this to the excellent discipline maintained by the officers and crew.

The passengers donned their lifebelts with the first sounding of the alarm Monday night.

Skillful Maneuvering.

The rescue of the passengers, begun late Wednesday afternoon, was by the most skillful maneuvering of the vessels standing by the Dixie. As the lifeboat crews made their way slowly through the peril-laden sea, the rescue vessels constantly kept shifting their positions to protect the lifeboats from the high waves.

The Atenas, under command of Captain D. B. Kerr, hove to by the Dixie around noon Wednesday, but, like the other ships standing by, was unable to launch lifeboats until 2 p. m. (C. S. T.)

The first boat away from the Atenas was under the command of Chief Officer Service and the next under Second Officer Burgett. It took the two lifeboats an hour to reach the side of the grounded Morgan liner.

The boats were back with 20 passengers from the Dixie, mostly women, about 4:30 p. m.

Courage of Skipper.

Those rescued by the boats of the Atenas told of the courage and calmness displayed by Captain E. W. Sundstrom of the Dixie. Although he suffered a serious injury to one leg, he sought constantly to allay the fears of the passengers.

One of the typical accounts of the scene on the Dixie was given by Miss Florence E. Steiler of San Francisco.

"It started to rain," she related, "about 10 o'clock Monday morning. At noon, the ship started to pitch and the storm broke in all its fury about 3 o'clock. We seemed to be in the teeth of a hurricane.

"At 4:30, the storm abated somewhat but it broke anew in the next hour with even greater intensity. Then came a tremendous jar and terrific vibrations. We were all ordered to put on our lifebelts and during the remainder of the night the ship swung from side to side.

Devastation Terrible.

"The devastation was terrible. Iron windows and doors crumbled under the weight of the heavy seas. The water was up to the bunks in the cabins. Men were compelled to roll up their trousers to their knees while women sitting on their bunks had to raise their feet as the water flowed from one side of the stateroom to the other.

S. C. V., presided at that organization's final business sessions. The sons will dance tonight at their annual grand ball to the music of the United States Marine Band.

AMARILLO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Confederate veterans, weary from turns at the quadrille and the Virginia reel at their annual ball, but enthusiastic over the prospect of future meetings, prepared to finish the business of their forty-fifth reunion today.

Selection of officers and consideration of a 1936 meeting place were on the day's program.

Although it had been suggested that no other reunion be attempted because of the advanced age of the veterans, Gen. Rice A. Pierce of Union City, Tenn., commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans, has a different view.

"We'll meet as long as there are three of us left to honor the Stars and Bars," he said. "That's part of our consitution, sir. We put it in at the first meeting, and it is in the minds and hearts of each of us to see that we can do all honor to the South as long as we are able."

Several cities had made bids for the next convention.

The reunion will end tomorrow with the grand parade, an event expected to be as colorful as the annual ball last night.

Dancing the steps of their youth, scores of the feeble old soldiers took part in the grand ball. Their faltering steps kept time with the music of the United States marine band as they danced the quadrille, the Virginia reel and the waltz with their official ladies.

The followers of Lee in the 60's voted unanimously yesterday to accept an invitation to meet the followers of Grant in a joint reunion at the Gettysburg battlefield in 1938.

BATTLE TO SAVE PANHANDLE SOIL BEING WAGED NOW

DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS WILL SEEK BEST METHODS TO PREVENT EROSION

AMARILLO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The battle to save Panhandle-Plains soil from the ravages of wind and water erosion is being waged on three broad fronts.

Eight 25,000-acre demonstration projects, the first of which was located in Dallam county, will seek to determine the best methods of combatting erosion. Four of the remaining projects will be in the Panhandle—in Deaf Smith, Oldham, Sherman, and Ochiltree counties.

The civilian conservation corps with the co-operation of farmers, is at work on another front. Farm lands within a radius of 25 miles of CCC camps in Dawson, Hall, Lamb and Ochiltree counties will be eligible for work by CCC workers. A CCC camp in Potter county is at work on an experiment designed to prevent erosion to pasture lands.

The third front was created by the wind erosion law, written by Senator Clint Small and passed by the legislature this year. Under the bill certain Panhandle counties may form conservation districts. As political subdivisions the districts will be eligible to sponsor WPA projects, to make assessments for soil work and to receive any state and federal funds available for soil programs.

The law provides that all 1935 and 1936 ad valorem taxes be refunded in Dallam, Hartley, Oldham, Deaf Smith, Sherman and Moore counties if those counties are organized into conservation districts before October 31. Lipscomb, Hansford and Ochiltree counties will receive a refund of one-half of their ad valorem taxes if organized before that time.

Large Sum Available.

About $200,000 will be available from refunded taxes if all of the counties take advantage of the law. Another provision provides for the use of 20 per cent of the automobile license fees for work on highways covered during spring dust storms. The county judge and commissioners will serve as officials of the conservation districts.

H. H. Finnell, who has been in charge of the Dallam county demnostration, also will direct the other 25,000-acre projects. He recently was elevated from regional direction for the soil erosion service to acting regional conservator for the southern high plains region. His area will include the Texas Panhandle, Colorado, and parts of New Mexico, Kansas and Oklahoma.

H. A. Finch is superintendent of the CC camp in Potter county. He is signing up land owners who are willing to co-operate in the program designed to rehabilitate grass lands.

MILDRED SCHOOLS WILL OPEN SEPT. 16 FOR COMING SESSION

SENATOR DEBERRY PREPARING BILL TO KILL FEE SYSTEM

AUSTIN, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Senator Tom DeBerry of Bogota today began preparing a bill to effectuate the fee system abolition constitutional amendment.

While Governor Allred limited the session called for September 16 to liquor regulatory legislation, Senator DeBerry said he believed the amendment itself authorized consideration. It directed the legislature at its first session after adoption to prescribe salaries.

Compensation of all district officers, and county officers in counties of more than 20,000 population, by fees would be prohibited after January 1. Commissioners courts were authorized to determine if county officers in counties of less than 20,000 population and all precinct officers should be paid by fees or salaries.

Senator DeBerry said the bill would prescribe salaries both for officers required placed on salaries and for those so changed by commissioners courts.

BANKHEAD COTTON EXEMPTIONS HERE FOR ALL GROWERS

GINNERS REPORT THEY ARE BEING HANDICAPPED BY FARMERS FAILING GET THEM

All Bankhead exemption certificates for Navarro county producers are available at the offices of the cotton control committee in the rear of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce offices, and are being distributed as fast as the producers will call for them, A. P. Costen, Bankhead administrator announced Tuesday morning.

The statement was made after several ginners over the county reported that producers were not bringing their exemption certificates to the gins with their staple, and had not brought the certificates for cotton ginned before the arrival of the exemptions. It was reported that such actions were putting the ginners to considerable trouble as the internal revenue department was demanding that the certificates be secured immediately.

Mr. Costen reported that the producers should present their certificates when the cotton was ginned, and if the farmers did not have them, they were available at the Corsicana office. They were sent to the committeemen in the various beats when they first arrived and remained there for several days before being recalled for final distribution.

The administrator also pointed out that the presentation of the certificates protected the producers against theft of the tickets and losses by fire and theft.

All sales or transfers of excess certificates must be conducted at the Corsicana office according to recent instructions so that the proper records may be obtained.

THIRD QUARTERLY CONFERENCE SHOWED CONDITIONS GOOD

There was a good attendance at the third quarterly conference held at the First Methodist church Wednesday night, with Dr. C. R. Gray, presiding elder, in charge. Dr. Gray also led a devotional before the conference, a sing-song was led by H. W. Richardson.

Edgar Metcalf was elected secretary and reports were made on various activities by Rev. T. Edgar Neal, on the state of the church; Mrs. A. W. Rogers, president of the Woman's Missionary Society, for the society; Mrs. J. W. David, for the missionary committee; T. J. Walton for charity work being done by the church, and W. H. Norwood, general sunday school superintendent.

Dr. Gray, commenting on the reports, stated that they were all fine reports, and showed much activity. He especially complimented the work being done by the Woman's Missionary Society, with 200 members. Mrs. Davis' report showed that the church's quota of $600 for the support of Rev. Sam Hilburn and family in Japan for the year had almost been paid in full. The elder also complimented the church on its financial showing, stating that with the tithe observance under way, the church should have no difficulty in meeting its obligations in full before the annual conference in November.

On motion of Rev. T. Edgar Neal, W. H. Norwood was re-elected general Sunday school superintendent for another year, and four were elected to the board of Christian education as follows: W. P. McCammon, Mrs. J. S. Murchison, Winkie Pierce and Mrs. A. W. Rogers. The board of stewards are to elect a member next Monday night and the personnel of the board will be completed with the various superintendents of the church school.

SOCIAL SECURITY ACT RECENTLY ENACTED BY CONGRESS MAKES GREAT GAIN IN STATUS OF LABOR

(Editor's Note: The administration's social security program is getting under way. Arthur J. Altmeyer, a member of the National board to administer the program, tells briefly what he thinks it will mean to labor.)

By ARTHUR J. ALTMEYER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The social security act just enacted by congress, aside from the security it will afford the individual worker, represents a great gain in the status of labor generally.

The government now recognizes that the workers of this country are entitled to something better than belief based on need when they become unemployed or reach the end of their working life.

It has accordingly made provision for a system of unemployment insurance and old age insurance whereby unemployment compensation and old age pensions will be paid as a matter of right to qualified individuals out of funds built up through contributions by employers or by employers and employees jointly.

Moreover, unemployment insurance and old age insurance gives the workers of this country a more definite and permanent stake in the industry of this country. By so doing they cannot help but promote greater economic and social stability.

These two types of insurance are entirely different and distinct from the state old age pension laws, mothers' pension laws and blind pension laws which provide pensions out of general tax funds to needy individuals only.

It was intended that certain phases would go into effect at once, such as financial assistance to the states in meeting the cost of their pension laws and in financing maternal and child welfare work. However, the failure of the third deficiency bill will delay furnishing this financial assistance.

Under the unemployment insurance plan benefits will be paid in a given state two years after that state enacts a law conforming to federal standards. The federal old age insurance benefits will start January 1, 1942.

Thus, the program, going into effect as it does, by easy stages, not only will not retard immediate recovery but will promote a sound and lasting recovery. As its full significance is more generally realized it will be recognized as a great advance in the utilizaton of our social and economic institutions to serve more effectively the common good.

WOMEN'S PLACE IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS IS NOTHING NEW *

"Careers" Were Common Ages Ago—Bible Women Who Ranked with Men—Personal Travel Memories of Places Linked With Women's Names.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

In our ingenuous ignorance, we have assumed that ours is the first generation to give woman a place in public life—forgetting Miriam and Deborah and Zenobia and Cleopatra and Catherine of Russia and Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria and a galaxy of other historical women.

With somewhat of a jolt, our feminists are reminded by the present Sunday School Lesson that back in apostolic times there were independent business women, such as Lydia; and accepted leaders in community, religious and intellectual life, such as Priscilla. The latter, by the way, has been credited by one ingenious theory, with the authorship of the Epistle to the Hebrews.

As a simple matter of indubitable record, women have occupied places of public leadership, in business, politics, religion and social life, throughout all ages. The facts gave denial to the popular cliche that "woman's place is in the home," and nowhere else. Woman's place has always been pretty much whatever position she has been qualified and willing to hold.

A Long-Ago Business Woman.

One curious fact always pops into my mind in conection with Lydia, Pauls first European convert, and a business woman. That is the persistence of women's commercial activity in her native city of Thyatira. It will be recalled that Thyatira was one of the "Seven Churches of Asia," addressed by John in the Book of the Revelation. It is an inland Turkish town; and when I visited it, I was struck by the extraordinary proportion of women in the market place as merchants. It seems as if today a large part of the business of Thyatira is managed by women.

Lydia's line was Tyrian purple dyes and cloth. That links her to the interesting relics which a traveller may find outside of both Sidon and Tyre—the great heaps of tiny murex shells, from which the famous Tyrian purple was extracted, one drop from each shell. This was the royal color; and in a robe so dyed, Jesus was mockingly arrayed at His trial.

Because of the fame and value of Tyrian purple, the trade in it had spread over the whole Roman world. So it was at far Philippi that Paul found Lydia, the dealer in this precious dye. To many students of the New Testament, Lydia's name is the outstanding one in connection with the city of Philippi, a case of a woman's stealing the fame of the city of Philip of Macedon, and his greater son, Alexander, conqueror of the world.

Let's Go To Philippi!

Nowadays, the rare visitor to Philippi will hear more about tobacco, and the American market than about Alexander or Philip or Paul or Lydia. The once-great city is now a ruin, back of the throbbing tobacco port of Kavalla, once Neapolis; and only tentative archaeological explorations have been made there. The river, by the side of which the Jews had their place of prayer, where Paul found Lydia and her women, is now spread out into a marsh. But a young British tobacco man told me that when duck shooting on the marsh, he had found the remains of the marble piers and embankments of the ancient river front. In Lydia's day, the citadel hill, over which I have scrambled, looked down on a busy water front.

So it is not easy to reconstruct the scene of that place of prayer by the river, to which the pioneering missionary, Paul, resorted, on his second journey, as he carried the story from Homer's Troas into the West that is now Europe. Paul was a Sabbath-keeping Jew; and it was his custom always to seek out the places of worship of his own people.

"Just A Bunch of Women!"

Nothing very impressive rewarded his visit to the Jewish place of worship in Philippi. He found only a little company of reverent women, of whom Lydia was apparently the leader. Competent in commerce, she was also, like most women, reverent in religion.

"Just a bunch of women!" a modern man might have said. Not so Paul. He preached to them as earnestly as though they had been the assembled Church in Antioch or Jerusalem. And Lydia was there won to Christ, along with her household, becoming a baptized believer.

The first recorded expression of Lydia's faith—for, being an alert and pratical business woman, she had to do something about it—was in the form of hospitality, one of womanhood's highest capacities. She constrained the apostle to abide in her home. That was her contribution to the effectiveness of his work. Lydia was, with Martha and Mary, early in that long line of devout hostesses who have entertained the preacher.

A Mixed Marriage.

Two women figure in this Lesson Story; and we must not let bustling Lydia elbow out her greater sister, Priscilla, who was evidently a Roman lady, married to a Jew named Aquila, both exiled from Rome by a decree of Emperor Claudius.

Behind the lines of the New Testament's allusions to Priscilla and Aquila—they are always mentioned together, though Priscilla's name usually comes first, as the stronger character—we may trace a story of romantic and faithful love. Theirs was a mixed marriage. The Jew Aquila must have been a strong and winsome character to gain the love of this Roman lady. Both, however, were Christians, and there was no barrier of religion between them.

As in Germany today, so in Rome of old, as often throughout history, the Jews were exiled and persecuted. Otherwise, Paul would not have found Priscilla and Aquila in Corinth. According to a passage in the Roman historian Seutonius, Claudius exiled Jews from Rome who were followers of Christus; indicating that long before Paul's arrival in the imperial capital, there was a strong Christian community there.

One unanswerable reply to the "modern" view that Christianity is only a synthesis of existing pagan cults, with their rites and legends taken over bodily, is the simple fact that, within less than a generation after the death of Jesus, the Christian Church was so powerfully established in Rome that both Claudius and Nero persecuted it. When Nero made human torches of the Christian martyrs he shed light upon the swift, wide spread of the Gospel. Doubtless some who perished at his command had seen and heard Jesus in the flesh.

More Potent Than Editorials.

What workmen talk about as they toil has more influence upon public life than all the newspaper editorials ever written. This is the most potent shaping force of public opinion. It was the shop talk of Paul and Priscilla and Aquila, as they toiled together at their common craft of tent-making, that trained the latter two in their high Christian efficiency.

These two became powerful missionaries, as they moved from Corinth to Ephesus and back to Rome. Their greatest recorded achievement was their instruction of Apollos, a mighty evangelist, who knew only the message of John the Baptist—even as the mysterious Sabeans, down Bagdad way, still profess to be disciples of John the Baptist. The work of Apollos suggests thoughts of the continuing power of the rugged revivalist by the Jordan. It took intellectual and social gifts of a high order on the part of Aquila and Priscila to win a giant such as Apollos to the Way. But I can testify, from contact with them on their fields, that a host of later missionaries are so endowed.

Lydia and Priscilla have countless successors, who are today the pillars of the Christian Church.

DIXIE

hotel last night. Then, he concluded "I sort of came back to normal, and with the feeling that a hideous nightmare was ended."

The task of removing passengers remaining aboard the hapless liner Dixie, tropical Radio reported, was completed this morning by three ships while the rescued persons unfolded a sea saga of courage.

The transfer of those who remained on the liner, fast aground on the treacherous French reef, Florida keys, was carried out with celerity, messages from the Dixie's master, E. W. Sundstrom, indicated.

Over a calm sea, a low, overcast sky threatening, the life boats shutled to and from the side of the Dixie.

"Started to load passengers six a. m. on launch Warbler," Captain Sundstrom wirelessed offices of the Morgan Line in Ney York.

"First boat takes 20 passengers."

Subsequent messages from the Dixie came swiftly.

"Second launch left ship with 18 passengers."

"Third launch, 18 passengers."

"Fourth launch, 18 passengers."

Thus, the story of the transfer was told in terse radio messages.

Conditions were ideal for the rescue, according to the skipper's wirelesses. The sea was placid, the sky overcast, however.

When the transferring was resumed this morning, 220 persons —143 passengers and 77 members of the crew—were on the Dixie.

Divisional headquarters of the coast guard at Jacksonville, Fla. received a report from the cutter Saukee that it had aboard 54 of the Dixie's passengers—brought to her by two motorboats, the salvage tug Warbler and coast guard boats numbers 2284 and 185.

Aid No Longer Needed.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 5.—(AP)— The master of the grounded passenger ship Dixie today advised the coast guard it was no longer necessary for its cutters to stand by the disabled craft.

The cutter Pandora notified the coast guard station here it had picked up a radio from the master of the Dixie advising the seas had quieted down and that further aid from the cutters at the scene was unnecessary. The Dixie's master said 57 persons were still aboard the ship, including himself.

Powell Club.

HUMAN INTEREST STORY.

Powell has many outstanding club members. Mrs. V. M. Haynie is an outstanding member. She has canned adequate food to meet the requirements of the farm food supply. Helped sponsor the 4-H club girls, cut foundation patterns, attended all recreational meetings, transported the Powell high school girls to most of the ball games and helped take care of the sick by collecting funds for medical aid. Surely deeds like these make outstanding club members.

For many of the Doric's passengers, the accident was a second interruption to the pleasure of an ocean cruise. Many of them had started out from the British Isles on the S. S. Laurentic, which was in collision Aug. 16 in the Irish Sea with the S. S. Napier Star. They transferred to the Doric and proceeded on to the Mediterranean.

LONDON, Sep. 5.—(AP)—Two other ships today took 736 holiday passengers off the Doric, "Cupid's ship" of the Cunard-White Star Line, after its collision with the French freighter Formigny 70 miles off the coast of Portugal.

Wireless messages said the Orion of the Orient Line had taken off 400 pasengers and the Viceroy of India, the remainder.

Reuters' (British news agency) Lisbon correspondent said the 16,484-ton Doric was not seriously damaged.

He reported the sea calm and the rescue accomplished without difficulty.

The trim new Orion turned its maiden voyage into a rescue expedition, being the first to respond to the Doric's SOS.

The Viceroy of India, a crack ship of the P. and O. Line, had recently been withdrawn from the London Bombay Line to make several "first class" cruises in the Mediterranean and South Atlantic waters. It is great Britain's first all-electric ship, 19,700 tons.

Captain A. C. Greig, commander of the Doric, took the helm of the ship last April after services with the Cunard company since 1906. Last February, when he commanded the Aurania, he was presented with a silver cup by the Norwegian government in recognition of the heroism of himself and his crew during attempts to rescue victims of the Sisto, which foundered in mid-Atlantic last December.

The Doric was known as the "Cupid ship" because nine couples announced their engagements while on a previous cruise.

At the time of the collision she was bound from Gibraltar to London.

The Formigny, 2,166 tons, was bound from Dunkirk, France, to Oran, a seaport on the northwestern coast of Algeria.

It was a double rescue for some of the passengers on the Doric. They had been picked up from the steamer Laurentic in the Irish Sea August 16, after the Laurentic had collided with the steamer Napier Star.

Steamer Taken In Tow

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 5.—(AP)—After signaling distress, the S. S. Whippingham, with 400 passengers aboard, was taken in tow by the S. S. Balmoral.

The master of the Whippingham reported by flag signals through the thick weather that his ship was leaking and a number of vessels went to his aid to the place where was anchored off the Needles in the English channel.

Owing to the thick weather and the lack of wireless information, it was earlier reported that all passengers had been removed.

CORSICANA, TEX., SEPT. 6, 1935

PROLIFIC ASIA.

The old "yellow peril" is brought up again by Dr. Charles Richet, a distinguished French physician with a special interest in population. He is afraid the yellow people will overrun the world. "In ten years," he says, "there will be 140,000,000 more mongoloids in Eurasia and only 20,000,000 more whites in Europe." He isn't referring especially to the Chinese and Japanese, either.

Among the "mongoloids" or "Mongol-like" races he includes the Russians, who are of Asiatic origin. "Eurasia" is combined Europe and Asia.

"By virtue of sheer numerical superiority," he announces, "the yellow races will completely submerge the whites, destroy their time-honored institutions and replace their magnificent civilization."

This numerical weight would be supplied chiefly by the Chinese, now numbering perhaps 450,000,000, and the Hindus, numbering 350,000,000. Naturally he opposes birth control for the white race.

Now birth control as a general policy for western nations may be a tragic mistake. Yet many will remain unimpressed by Dr. Richet's argument. "Sheer numerical superiority" isn't much better superiority now than it was 2,000 years ago when the million Persians under Darius were swept back into Asia by a handful of Greeks. It is not by numbers, but science, moral energy and conscious purpose that a few thousand Englishmen keep India's vast human ant-hill under control.

The Russians may have Mongol features, but they are far more like Americans than Mongolians in thought and purpose, and would by preference side with America rather than Asia.

Great fecundity, as a matter of fact, seems to be usually a handicap. If Asia began practicing birth control and produced fewer and stronger men, then we might worry.

SHARPSHOOTERS

The odds against Abyssinia may not be so great as they appear. Those black men may surprise the world. Not by their bravery, which is taken for granted, but by their skill in a branch of the military art neglected by most nations lately. That is marksmanship with rifles.

Richard H. Sanger, an American explorer returned from Ethopia, quotes a native army officer as saying: "You foreigners drill better than we do. But shooting, not drilling, is what wins wars. Man for man, our new army can outshoot any troop. We will win any war."

Every male considers himself a fighter, and all have carried guns from childhood. They are great hunters and sharpshooters. It was largely through such talent that our own troops won the Revolutionary War.

Siam bars cosmetics for schoolmarms; Turk women unveil; Occidentals bob hair and shorten skirts; American girls pluck eyelashes, doff stockings; beach authorities remove lid on suits—gosh, if this keeps up the nudists will soon be mid-Victorian.

The "tax on the rich" is to begin at $50,000. This looks like poverty to the really rich but vast wealth to most folks.

JUST FOLKS

A RUG IS MADE.

Somewhere in Persia years ago,
Or so the story runs,
A family I'll never know
With six or seven sons
And lovely daughters eight or nine;
A bread loaf and a jug,
Using the "tree of life" design
Began to weave a rug.
They wove by day and wove by night,
Their fingers seldom still.
A bird at rest, a bird in flight,
They wove with magic skill.
Through days of weal and days of woe
The pattern lovelier grew,
But where that rug at last would go
I'm sure they never knew.
I'm told the dear old mother died
Long ere the task was done.
Before the last small knot was tied
The father journeyed on.
But still the family wove with care
Nor bitter sighs and tears
Nor all the heartaches mortals bear
Could stay those toilsome years.
So sad the tale, I almost wept
To hear it told to me.
At Kermanshah that rug was kept
'Till nineteen thirty-three,
And then by camel and by cart
'Twas carried to the sea,
And yesterday a salesman smart
Unloaded it on me.

BUSY CANALS

The Panama Canal observed its 21st birthday anniversary on Aug. 15. In the years since it was opened to traffic, tolls have amounted to $394,566,620 for 82,673 passages of ships between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Traffic now is many times what it was in the early years of the canal's operation.

The canal has a capacity for 48 ships a day. In the fiscal year ending June 30, the average number of daily transits was only 15. In the peak year, 1928, the daily average was only 18. World trade and travel will have to increase considerably before it is necessary to construct the third set of locks, foundations for which were laid alongside the present double sets when the canal was built. It hardly looks as if a second canal, such as the one proposed through Nicaragua, would be needed for a long time.

Last year the United States Navy made a record when 110 ships passed through the 55-mile canal in 48 hours. In October the Pacific Fleet, 80 vessels, made the passage in 40 hours.

There is a computed deficit for the 21 years of $15,342,565, which doesn't seem bad.

While we are feeling proud of the Panama Canal and its achievements, let's not forget the Saulte Ste. Marie and other Great Lakes canals which carry nearly as much traffic in their shorter season as the Panama Canal does in a year.

CENTRAL AMERICAN UNION

There is talk in Central America of establishment of an economic union of El Salvador, Ecuador, Guatemala, Honduras and Costa Rica. So far it has not gone beyond the stage of a proposed conference of the presidents of the five republics to discuss the possibilities of commercial and economic co-operation for the group. It is said that a political union, while possibly desired in some quarters, is considered impractical, because of the rivalries for power and prestige it would arouse.

A commercial and economic union ought to have many beneficial possibilities. It could be used to stimulate domestic and foreign trade, to improve international business relations, to attract travelers, to develop communication systems, and so on. If it worked, it would promote peace among the nations concerned.

At least, it would be an interesting experiment. If it were successful, larger nations might profit by the example.

New York has sent life-size dolls on a good will tour of Japan. This is reminiscent of the story of the salesman who threw his hat into the offices of testy buyers. If the hat stayed in, the salesman ventured to follow.

VICTORIOUS MEN

They had a knitting contest in Boston on the occasion of a Boston Common Tercentenary celebration. One hundred women and one man participated. The man won.

John F. Cann was the victor. He arrived when the contest was half finished, put he plied his needles with such dexterity that he caught up and passed the lady knitters. He explained afterward to interviewers that he had been knitting ever since he was three years old, when "some one had to help mother, because I had five brothers who were very hard on knitted stockings."

Another man has beaten his women neighbors at their own job this summer. This is a bachelor farmer in Cook county, Ill. His glass of blackberry jam won the grand championship prize at the county fair. "I'm not an expert," says this modest fellow, "but I'm better than most women."

These two conquests may or may not be pleasing to womankind in general. For the ladies' cosolation, it should be admitted that each champion says he was taught by his mother the art which he practices so well. And if there is any real chivalry left, men will not rise at this point to remark that the greatest dressmakers, cooks, and so on, are always men. Let them remember, in some humility, that their wives and mothers carry the day-by-day burden of these chores pretty successfully and cheerfully, after all.

NATIONAL HONOR

One of the most effective ways of stirring up a war is to insult a nation's honor. Mankind has canonized this idea of honor until, in some cases, it ranks with national conceptions of Deity. Yet records indicate that nationalists care more that others reverence their honor than that they themselves preserve it.

Treaties ignored, debts repudiated, agreements lightly set aside, rights refused—these things recur until they tend to become normal. Pacts are abandoned at will when found unprofitable.

Why not season national honor with a little noblesse oblige—that courteous responsibility which goes, or ought to go, with power?

It looks as if we may have a national campaign over the question whether amending the Constitution is constitutional.

VAULTING AMBITION

Japan proposes to bar American auto makers from further expansion within her borders so that her own industry may be encouraged. Japan makes an automobile similar to the little Austin cars which unsuccessfully bid for favor in this country.

Since 75 per cent of cars used in Japan are, at present, made in the United States, the preference of Japanese motorists for the American models is plainly evident. The government move, therefore, is an attempt to force its people to content themselves with something the people do not wish.

History testifies that this sort of thing can be done for a time, but not indefinitely. The Voice of the People is the Voice of God, as the old saying has it. In a land of democracy such as ours, we take that forwards, indicating that divine right is and can only be vested in the people. In a country like Japan, they look at it backwards or upside down. Or so it seems from our point of view. The Emperor is divine and his voice must be that of the people.

But, curiously, that remains true in a country so long as the word of the ruling authority expresses, for the most part, his people's views of right and justice. When the ruling clique runs counter to the public will, in serious matters, and for a long time, something smashes and the adage reads from left to right once more.

You can't say Uncle Sam isn't a good uncle, when he takes care of his sailor nephews' social dates for them, as he did at Seattle during the Fleet Week. Still there are sailor boys ungrateful enough to think they can handle such matters themselves.

Italians growing grapes on hillsides and wheat for macaroni on hot plains look so much more picturesque and attractive to the world than Italians clanking around threatening a mess of peaceful black folks with guns and bombs.

No model of the Mayflower has been found. Probably that is why no modern shipbuilder can match her passenger carrying capacity.

SCHOOL BEGINNERS TO MEET TEACHERS FRIDAY MORNING

Children entering the elementary grades of the Corsicana schools for the first time are requested to meet the principals of their respective schools on Friday morning, September 6, at 9 o'clock. This applies to beginners in the low first grades, who were six years old on or before the first of September, and who are entering school for the first time. It also includes students with previous school experience who have not lived in Corsicana but who are taking up work here for the first time in any grade from one to six, it was announced Tuesday.

This early registration is necessary because complete schedule fo classes will be run on the opening day, which is Monday, September 9, and new students must be classified and assigned to home rooms before that time. Students in grades from one to six, who have previously attended the Corsicana schools will report for work on the opening day of school.

The registration of students in the Junior and Senior high schools is in progress and students in these schools who have neglected to arrange their schedules are urged to do so at once as it will be impossible for the principals to take care of that phase of matriculation on Monday, the opening day of school. Students enrolled after the opening of school are handicapped in the selection of courses and in the time arrangement of the schedule.

The names of the principals of the elementary schools are given herewith and they will be glad to talk this week with the parents and children in regard to any problems of schedules or otherwise.

AMARILLO CAPTURED BY REMNANT LEE'S ONCE MIGHTY ARMY

MATTER OF JOINT BLUE AND GRAY REUNION MEETS DIVIDED OPINIONS

By VESTEL LOTT,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

AMARILLO, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Amarillo surrendered to the "rebels" today without a shot being fired—and not a "Yankee" resisted.

More than 500 members of the fading remnant of the proud army of the South had arrived for what will be the last reunion for many of the Old Confederate veterans. Each train and bus brought more recruits for the forty-fifth annual rally of the Southern defenders.

Brief pre-reunion conversation, as the feeble old soldiers gathered in small groups to swap yarns of civil war days, centered about a proposal for a joint blue and gray reunion at Gettysburg, Penn., in 1936.

"Sure, we'll meet with them if we can meet on equal terms," said Gen. Rice A. Pierce of Union City, Tenn., commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans. "When the question came up several years ago the Grand Army of the Republic said we would have to march with our flag furled. I introduced a resolution telling them to go to hell!"

Active despite his 90 years, Gen. Harry Rene Lee of Nashville, Tenn., adjutant general and chief of staff of the U. C. V., said he held no animosity toward the Union forces he opposed in the sixties.

"But no flag will ever lead ours," he said. "The American Flag can be on the right, where it belongs, but it must be even and even. I am in favor of a joint reunion with that one absolute stipulation."

"There won't be many of us left in 1938," commented Gen. A. L. Steele of Houston, retiring commander of the Texas division, U. C. V. "I am in favor of laying down all prejudices, but we will never parade without our flag."

Voices Vigorous Opposition.

Vigorous opposition to the joint meeting was voiced by Major-General M. J. Bonner of Fort Worth.

"It will never occur," he said. "And I'll fight it with all of my might. There are extremists on both sides. Why we even fall out among ourselves. If we all met together there would be a fight and the war would be renewed. Some of the best friends I have are Northerners, but there is no question but that disputes would arise."

Led by Capt. Taylor Branson, the 73-piece United States Marine band began a series of concerts, which will be climaxed in the grand parade Friday morning. "Dixie" became the theme song of the reunion with the arrival of the band.

. . . Pledge . . .

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN KILLED AS RESULT FALLING AWNING

ROCKDALE, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Two volunteer firemen lost their lives early today in a $100,000 fire which razed the old Scarborough and Hicks Mercantile company in the Rockdale business district.

A heavy awning on the front of the store building collapsed and crushed to death J. Wesley Hooper, 35, and Wilbur Williams, 21, while they were fighting the blaze.

The fire broke out at 12:45 a. m. in the grocery department and spread rapidly to clothing and other branches of the rombling one story building, which covered half a block. It was not until nearly dawn that firemen gained control and relieved the danger of the fire spreading to other parts of the business district.

The awning which killed Hooper and Williams was constructed of metal and brick.

Several other fire fighters suffered burns and minor injuries in their desperate efforts to halt the fire.

Boswell Newton, an official of the store, estimated the damage at $100,000. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

The company was established in 1883 by E. M. Scarborough and Bob Hicks, pioneer merchants. It was one of the oldest concerns in Milam county.

Hooper was district manager for the Tennessee Life Insurance Company and had volunteered, along with many other citizens in this town of 2,400 population, to aid in fighting the blaze.

Williams was a filling station employe who also volunteered.

The fire was regarded as the worst here since 1888, when a number of lives were lost in the burning of the historic Mundine Hotel.

BRADY'S BUSINESS DISTRICT FLOODED TO DEPTH TWO FEET

WATERS OF BRADY CREEK, FED BY TEN-INCH DOWNPOUR, POUR INTO HOUSES

BRADY, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Brady Creek, fed by a 10-inch overnight rain was rushing two feet deep through the business district of Brady today as the rain fell steadily. The downpour started yesterday at 4 p. m. and had not let up.

The creek, normally about 10 feet deep near here, rose 25 feet and was going higher as it flowed over the downtown plaza.

Merchants hastily moved stock to second floors and high ledges and abandoned their stores. Four tractors pulled several stalled automobiles out of the path of the water before it surged steadily upward.

Water stood two feet deep in the Hotel Brady lobby and 12 blocks within the city limits were inundated.

Residents feared the flood would reach greater proportions than the October, 1930, disaster which caused $300,000 in damage.

The Brady creek winds just a few blocks from the business section.

Three highways were blocked to traffic. Highway No. 23 to Brownwood; No. 16 to Coleman and No. 9 to San Angelo were closed. Traffic was still moving over No. 9 to San Antonio but it was feared motorists would be stalled at the low water bridge between Mason and Fredericksburg.

No Loss of Life Reported.

No loss of life was reported and estimates of the damage already done were withheld.

Heavy rains in nearby sections and other parts of the state also were reported.

San Angelo received an overnight fall of 1.24 inches and Winters reported a fall of 9.75 inches in the last 24 hours.

Ballinger was soaked by inches but farmers believed it to be a boon to the top grain crop. However, the cotton pest menace was expected to increase after the rain.

Coleman reported 2.83 inches and a steady rain still falling. The Hord creek, traversing the city, was rising and other creeks were filling their banks.

Rains at Many Points.

Wichita Falls reported a misting rain which should be of great benefit to ranges, late cotton and feed crops but will also aggravate leaf worm damage.

Heavy rains, ranging from two inches at Fredericksburg to eight inches in the Cherry Mountain section, seven miles northwest of Fredericksburg, had almost repeated the June flood condition.

The Baron, Crabapple, Palo Alto and Liveoak creeks were on heavy rises. Workmen labored all night to remove timbers and machinery from new bridges before flood waters from Cherry Mountain struck near Fredericksburg. Material was washed downstream by the surging, seven foot wall of water and temporary bridges built mainly to carry traffic from Fredericksburg to the Gillespie county fair opening Friday were destroyed.

Chery Mountain was the scene of a cloudburst in June.

New Rio Grande Flood.

EL PASO, Sept. 3.—(AP)—A new flood threatened this portion of the Rio Grande Valley today as waters of an earlier rise receded, leaving a number of persons below here homeless.

Heavy rains in the Black Range mountains near Leasburg Dam, 70 miles north of here in New Mexico, sent another rise rolling down the stream, but the water was not expected to rise as high as during the flood just past.

About 1,000 acres of farm land below here still were under water last night, and the Red Cross was feeding 31 families in Fabens.

As the new rise came downstream the highway between Las Cruces and Hot Springs, N. M., in the Leasburg Dam area was washed out.

Waters Receding.

BRADY, Texas, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Rain ceased before noon today and flood waters from the Brady Creek, which had surged into stores and buildings, rapidly began receding here after the worst flood since October, 1930.

Preliminary estimates showed only a few thousand dollars worth of damage, and fears that the water would equal the $300,000 damage of 1930 quickly subsided.

Filling stations in the flooded area were badly damaged and a few other structures were watersoaked. Merchants started cleaning up debris.

The creek went on a 25 foot rise after a ten inch rain which started late yesterday.

ASSOCIATED PRESS STAFF WRITER FLIES OVER STORM SECTOR

By J. P. McKNIGHT
(Associated Press Staff Writer).
(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press.)

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 4.—(AP)—I've just come back from flying over the stranded Morgan liner Dixie and the storm-lashed Florida keys.

The 8,100 ton Dixie, 372 souls aboard her, lies hard and fast on French Key, headed south. From the air she looks to be all right, although she lists slightly to starboard.

Her passengers are all still aboard. A dozen other ships cluster fanwise, protectively about her stern, but no lifeboats were in the water.

The passengers seem cheerful, unworried. Most are dressed in sport clothes. Lining the rails, they cheered and waved as we circled about them.

Below Tavernier to the Vaca Keys—in the region that bore the brunt of the tropical hurricane now sweeping along Florida's northwest coast—almost nothing man-made stands. Nothing is whole, undamaged.

They tell me here deaths in the area are estimated as high as seven hundred.

Houses are twisted piles of matchwood Boats are piled high on dry land, cracked, shattered and twisted.

Of an 11-car Florida East Coast special train sent into the keys to bring out 683 veterans in the rehabilitation camps, only the locomotive is left on the rails. Eight passenger and baggage coaches lie coupled together, on their side. Three box cars have been carried many feet from the track.

The veterans' camps themselves are literally flat. The lumber that went into building them is strewn askew, in piles of matchwood. Nothing stands erect.

ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT HAS RESIGNED POST IN YOUNG DEMOCRATS

LEAVES RECOMMENDATION THAT NATIVE SON OF STATE BE CHOSEN

DALLAS, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, said today he had resigned as first vice-president of the Young Democrats of Texas, a post his political foes had contended in bitter word battles that only a native Texan should hold.

The junior Roosevelt said he had relinquished the post on Aug. 6.

Two attempts had been made to have him forcibly removed from office, leaders of the movement maintaining he had been illegally elected by the executive committee and that he was not well versed in political and governmental affairs of Texas because of his short residence in the state.

Young Roosevelt said he submitted a recommendation with the unconditional resignation that some "native son" be selected for his position.

The resignation was contained in a letter to Raymond Buck of Fort Worth, chairman of the executive committee.

"I was not forced out," said Roosevelt. "Agitation over my office had ceased, but I wanted it to be a matter of record when the Texas delegation went to the national convention at Milwaukee."

The president's son had held the office since 1934, when Jack Burroughs of Dallas, resigned to give his post to Roosevelt.

Phil Overton, Dallas attorney, led the fight against Roosevelt. An attempt by the Dallas county Young Democrats to demand his resignation through the state executive committee met defeat. Overton carried his fight before the state executive committee at Fort Worth on July 16, where commiteemen voted 16-2 against his resolution.

Roosevelt said he would ocntinue as an active member of the organization.

The fight against "this New Yorker trying to run Texas' business," as Overton described Roosevelt, started soon after the state convention at Amarillo, where Rosevelt endorsed constitutional amendments to perpetuate principles of the national recovery act.

Overton, a states right booster, said he resented young Roosevelt's word attack on Governor James V. Allred, also a staunch states' right man.

Threats have been made to form "rebel" democratic forces and a few Young Democrats joined the move as a result of the Roosevelt incident.

TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF LEGION FAVORS BONUS PAYMENT IN WAY THAT WILL NOT INCREASE TAXES

DALLAS, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Texas department of the American Legion was on record today as favoring "immediate payment of cash soldiers' bonus in a way that will not create new taxes or additional debt."

The resolution, passed last night at the state convention after a talk by Congressman Wright Patman of Texarkana, author of the bonus bill, also proposed that "all interest paid after Oct. 1, 1931, be refunded."

"I tell you, my friends," Patman said, "I'm going to do everything I can to see that you boys get this money. We'll try to get it without increasing taxes or the national debt if possible, but if we can't get it any other way, we'll take it that way."

Patman was author of the bill which proposed to pay the bonus by issuing new currency. The bill passed in congress but did not become a law because the senate sustained President Roosevelt's veto.

The convention also voted to urge the Texas legislature to require all employers of five or more persons to have at least 98 per cent of their staffs composed of American citizens.

Other resolutions urged the United States government's withdrawal of recognition of the Soviet Union "unless that government lives up to its treaty with this country," and ratification of the child labor amendment.

Ernest R. Goens of Tyler was elected department commander to succeed H. Miller Ainsworth of Luling. Beaumont was chosen for the 1936 convention.

Ainsworth presented a cup to the Beaumont post for outstanding service to the organization last year.

Other officers:

W. F. Spiegel, Port Arthur, treasurer; Byron A. Keathley, GGraham, chaplain; C. P. Ingleking, Electra, judge advocate; Garland Adair, Austin, historian, and John Kelly, Breckenridge, sergeant at arms.

The auxiliary closed its three-day convention shortly before the Legion adjourned. Mrs. Tillman Jones of Post was elected president and adelegate to the national auxiliary convention to be held late this month at St. Louis.

She also was chosen alternate national committeewoman.

ROOSEVELT HOLDS EMERGENCY OVER; TO CUT PERSONNEL

ALL EMERGENCY FEDERAL AGENCIES PLACED UNDER CONTROL BUDGET BUREAU

HYDE PARK, Sept. 4.—(AP)—President Rosevelt today ordered all emergency federal agencies under control of the budget bureau for curtailment of personnel with assertion that the peak of the emergency has passed.

By executive order Mr. Roosevelt placed the following seven government units under the budget for control of administrative expenditures:

The agriculture adjustment administration; the federal emergency relief administration; the national recovery administration; the Tennessee Valley authority; the public works administration; the commodity credit corporation, and the railroad co-ordinator.

This move completed the placing under budget control of all emergency agencies outside regular executive departments.

The president in announcing the order at his regular semi-weekly press conference, held today in the tiny den of the family house, explained that action contemplated a prevention of overlapping and a reduction of unnecessary personnel. He said it means the emergency work of the agencies is over and they must budget expenditures.

Asker if he regarded teh emergency as over, the president replied that he thought the peak was passed.

He added that as fast as the various credit agencies completed their emergency aid he hoped for consolidation.

He mentioned that the home owners loan corporation already has virtually completed its action on loan applications, and was now going into the management stage of seeing that loans are paid and supervising property.

Asked for an appraisal of the accomplishments of the emergency agencies, the president cited that a million home owners had been saved from foreclosure; a million farmers had been saved their homesteads, and 7,000 banks had been saved from going unuder.

He said there were just three examples.

MOTHER OF FIVE CHILDREN CHARGED IN BANK ROBBERY

PRENTISS, Miss., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Bergie Johnson, 42, the mother of five children, fought at her trial here today to disprove charges she aided the late Raymond Hamilton, Southwestern desperado, in robbing a bank at Prentiss on March 3.

Charged with robbery with firearms, an offense which carries a possible death penalty in Mississipppi, Mrs. Johnson went on trial yesterday. A jury was chosen by nightfall.

The woman hewed out her own home from logs on a hillside farm at Carson, a few miles from here, and paints with oil with as much skill as she follows a plow.

The state charges Mrs. Johnson "showed the way" to Hamilton and Ralph Fults in the bank robbery in which the two desperadoes terrorized South Mississippi in escaping.

Hamilton was later executed in Texas for killing a guard during a prison escape. Fults was captured and returned to Mississippi where he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 50 years imprisonment.

Mrs. Johnson admitted at a preliminary hearing that she harbored Hamilton, Fults and their women companions, Dorothy and Estelle Davis, Dallas, Texas, sisters, but insisted she knew nothing of the bank robbery plans.

The Davis sisters, also charged with robbery with firearms, are held in jail at Jackson.

HAROLD NEUMANN IS HOLDER OF HIGHEST AIR RACING PRIZE

ILLINOIS PILOT WON THOMPSON TROPHY WITH SPEED OF 220 MILES PER HOUR

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Harold Neumann, 29, of Moline, Ill., a nervy, precise racing pilot, held the highest prize offered by the 1935 national air races today—the Thompson trophy.

Neumann flew a plane known as "Mr. Mulligan" ten perilous laps around a misty 15-mile course yesterday to win first place in the Thompson trophy race. His average speed was 220 miles an hour.

Not until he came to earth after the race, did Neumann know he had won. He thought Col. Roscoe Turner, far in the lead for eight laps, had won the race.

A broken oil line brought Turner down as he streaked around the course on the ninth lap at a speed of nearly four miles a minute. A crowd estimated by air race officials at 85,000 persons saw Turner head his plane almost straight up into the sky to get off the course and then land safely.

S. J. Wittamn of Oshkosh, Wis., finished the Thompson race in second place less than a minute behind Neumann. He averaged 218 miles an hour. Roger Don Rae of Lemont, Ill., was third at a speed of 213 miles an hour; Joe Jacobson of Chicago was fourth at 210; Lee Miles of Farmingdale, L. I., was fifth with 193, and Marion McKeen of Los Angeles, was sixth with 188.

PRETTY THINGS TO DO.

SOME PRETTY TRICKS

How to introduce a bright touch of color, how to cover up marks on the skin—both these are talked about today by Miss Forbes in the Beauty Chats.

E. K. Forbes

There are so many things a woman can do to make herself look pretty, that no one, really, need be uninteresting. By "pretty" I mean of course more than the pink-and-white, regular-featured, magazine - cover type of looks. With attractive color combinations, style, a good carriage, clear skin and well-kept hair and nails, to start off, and then charm of manner and a smile, and what woman would not be thought pretty?

How can you give yourself that unusual something which makes you look different from everyone else in a room, and attractive as well? Let's take your hair, for instance. Can you improve it by brightening its color, a simple matter accomplished with henna shampooes or with peroxide or lemon rinses? Can you further brighten it by wearing hair bands of different contrasting colors with your spirts outfits, and smooth bands of ribbon or velvet to match your evening gowns? This is a new style, by the way, and all you need is enough ribbon to go almost round the head, and a few inches of elastic sewed on, to be hidden unler the hair in back. This note of color adds to the attractiveness of eyes as well as hair.

Your eyes next. Are your eyebrows shaped so neatly that they set off the eyes? Do you carefully make up your eyes with shadow and mascara for the evenings, and do you keep oil or cream around them at night, to ward off wrinkles, and do you pat around them with ice every few days to help tone those muscles? And is your diet what it should be, for a bad liver means dull eyes, and poor digestion means dull eyes, and perhaps bagginess under them, and lack of sleep will ruin the expression of the loveliest eyes.

Your skin is a matter principally of health, diet and care with laxatives when these are needed. You can, occasionally, when you are going out of an evening, dress up with those new grease paint foundation creams.

T. J.—You have done a great deal toward throwing off the surplus weight already, as the orange juice and the other fruit have been cleansing your entire system. You will not get ill from such a diet, and until you are very hungry for other foods, you are doing the right thing by your health in this kind of dieting. Some of the worst cases of acne, where the skin appeared ruined beyond recovery, have been cured by the patient living entirely on grapes, taking several months of the diet, together with baring the skin to the air and sun, and not only recovered health, but came out of the cleansing with perfect skins. When you wish a change from the fruit, include fresh vegetables in the diet and keep watching your weight, so you do not rush the reduction. No one should ever starve, nor even pass through a period of discomfort, except for the first few days; and this will only be so becuase the stomach has been used to more bulk than it should have had.

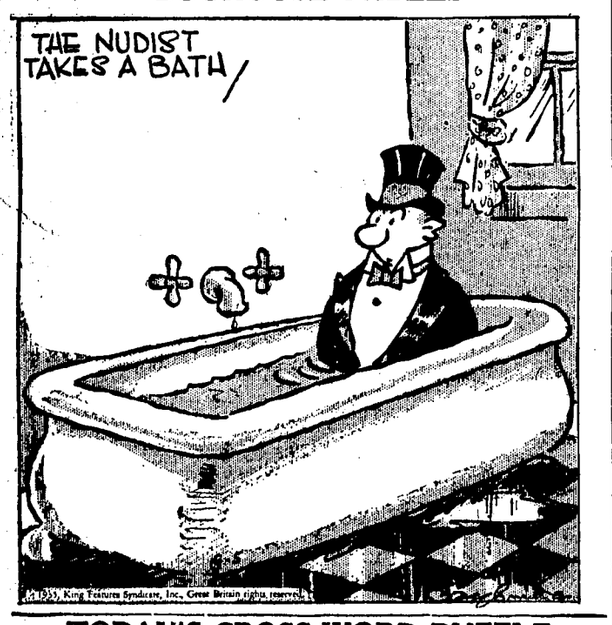

Mrs. B.—Milk of magnesia used as a mouth wash will counteract an acid condition for the time being, but the thing to do is to get rid of the trouble in your system. As acid mounth will not exist when the entire blood stream is cleared.

Mrs. L. C.—The tendency to baldness usually comes before a man is thirty-five years of age, and if he has been spared from it up to that time, he may be pretty sure of having escaped with his hair. There should be very little reason why he should even let his hair get thin after this either.

After the call prices sagged back to about yesterday's closing quotations, with Oct. ruling around 10.35 and May 10.55 at the end of the first hour, or net unchanged to 1 point lower.

There was considerable switching from Oct. to later deliveries.

There was further switching from Oct. to later months, and some of it was attributed to brokers thought to be operating for he producers pool.

Very little selling pressure developed and trade buying to fix prices supplemented by a scattering demand held prices generally steady. At mid-day the market was within a point or two of the rest with active months showing net advances of about 3 to 7 points.

The market reacted in late trading on New Orleans and Southern selling, futures closing barely steady, unchanged to 4 lower. Spot quiet; middling 10.65.

in session.

Judge Gilbert was about to discharge the grand jury when Sheriff Middleton walked into the court room and said:

"Judge, I've solved this dynamiting case. I would like for you to hold the grand jury until this afternoon."

Sheriff Middleton did not state what evidence he had, remarking he would present it to the grand jury. Judge Gilbert directed the jurors to meet at 1 p. m.

A detachment of 70 national guardsmen was on duty today.

The front of the county attorney's automobile was blown to pieces by the explosion, presumably touched off when Middleton stepped on the starter.

Investigators said Middleton so far as could be learned had no personal enemies. He became embroiled in a political squabble here last month when he gave legal advice to Adj. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt during the Kentucky National Guard's occupation of Harlan county at the Aug. 3 primary, but this difference was not considered serious enough to have provoked violence.

Middleton, a republican, was married and the father of a nine-months-old daughter.

It was suggested by officials, who would not permit use of their names, that perhaps Middleton was slain because of information he intended to give the Harlan grand jury, in session yesterday and called again today. The county attorney had appeared informally before yesterday's session.

HURRICANE

cumbe Keys, where the death toll is expected to have been heaviest.

Governor Sholtz left by automobile to tour the devastated area.

The hurricane, dwindling in its destructive powers, soared North through Georgia as Florida rescue corps quickly moved into the stricken regions where they were met by scenes of horror and desolation.

Fifty-seven Bodies at Miami.

Fifty-seven bodies, few identified, lay in a morgue here, as the difficult mission of bringing aid to the injured and marooned victims was speeded to the coastal regons where the storm was most severe.

Countless injured were reported strewn through the keys, battered and torn through almost four days of swirling winds and rains.

Congressman J. Hardin Peterson at Lakeland telegraphed federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins for an investigation into reported deaths among war veterans n FERA work camps on Upper and Lower Matecumbe Keys.

A similar request went to President Roosevelt last night from the Miami Chamber of Commerce and the Coral Gables Post of the American Legion.

"I want to find out why they didn't evacuate those islands," Peterson said. "They had plenty of notice and I want to fix the responsibility. I will follow the matter vigorously."

The storm curled into Georgia with drenching rains and stiff winds, but damage in towns was mostly confined to fallen trees and signs. Extensive damage to peanut and pecan crops was reported in some localities.

Headed Out to Sea.

Weather bureaus at Thomasville and Quitman reported wind velocity at between 35 and 45 miles an hour. The storm was expected to veer towards Macon and then whirl across Savannah, the Carolinas and out to sea.

Despite torn up railroads and washed away bridges, Red Cross and Coast Guard workers hurried their relief task on the stricken Florida Keys. "The next problem is to find and remove the bodies," Coast Guard Commander H. S. Perkins said.

State department of health officials said that the work of caring for survivors of the hurricane on the Upper and Lower Matecumbe Keys was "pretty well in hand."

The bodies in the morgue here were of men, except for those of one woman and two small girls.

As the seas moderated around French Reef, transfer of all passengers from the stranded liner Dixie to rescue boats was completed, according to Tropical Radio.

So devastating was the storm that today more than 60 hours after it struck, no definite estimate of the dead, missing and injured could be made.

Dr. Leonard K. Thompson, Red Cross relief chairman in the Keys hurricane area, reported to Washington that he believed the toll of dead would be less than 200.

Death Estimates Vary.

Dr. Joe Stewart, who made an aerial survey of the stricken places, placed the total as not in excess of 300.

Captain P. T. Branking, master of the yacht Byronic, which made a rescue voyage to the Keys, declared the number of dead would be at least 500.

Jack Combs, a Miami undertaker who led a rescue expedition, said the dead would number between 400 and 500.

All apparently based their estimate on bodies seen by them strewn about, hung in trees or half buried under wreckage. In addition, they had the horrible word pictures from survivors who told of seeing many swept to sea on the tidal wave.

Accurate determination of the dead in the three veterans' camps will depend on accounting of the 675 men on the rosters. Many of them were reported to have been on leaves of absence when the storm struck.

Bridges Washed Out.

Washed out bridges hampered rescue workers on the upper and lower Matecumbe keys, where most of the veterans were camped, and held them back from lower keys, leaving the fate of the few residents in the latter in doubt.

Only a dozen veterans were found alive in Camp No. 5, where 185 were on the roster. Of 243 enrolled at Camp No. 3, 23 were reported on furlough and 133 were accounted for. The fate of the remaining 87 was not known.

A private yacht brought 52 of the injured veterans to Miami for hospitaliation. Among them was Top Sergeant P. Pugh of Camp 3. He and 7 others clung to a water tank car all through the night Monday.

"Men who have known all the rough edges of life," said Sergeant Pugh, "who hadn't thought of God in years, prayed that night. I heard them muttering prayers as they held to the car and tracks, with debris pelting their bodies."

Men Swept From Tank.

He told how the hurricane with a sudden swift puff blew up the rails at either end of the tank car. At the same time, he said, the tidal wave rolled in, covered the car and tumbled men who were not clinging to it back into the mangroves where many were battered to death.

The men on the car continued to cling to it.

"Then the wind stopped and the stars came out, but it was just a lull. It lasted about 40 minutes. Then it really started blowing."

Pugh said he and the others who were saved would always remember "good old tank car No. 3390."

Impaired communication still left the casualty toll in doubt at Rock Harbor, a temorary camp for the veterans on Plantation key, where by means of shouts across the water rescue workers heard that 75 were dead.

Camp No. 1 on upper Matecumbe was demolished.

Flier Tells of Destruction.

"Storm area appears as if broom had swept forty-mile swath through Keys, William Dokey, who flew over the area, reported by radio to his home base. "Several small craft blown ashore. Flying low, saw woman sitting on wreckage of home on isolated key with one child near her."

Pilot Roy Keller saw twenty miles of track on the Florida East Coast Railroad torn up.

John Purvis, lighthouse keeper at Alligator Light, said the storm seemed to center over Matecumbe and Tavernier for more than 5 hours with the wind at a maximum velocity of 125 miles an hour.

A station master at Islamorada said he counted 15 bodies, but relief officials believed he included veterans dead on Plantation and Matecumbe keys.

The Miami Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution last night asking the president for "a prompt and impartial inestigation" of the delay in removing the veterans from the work camps after storm warnings were given. It requested that the inquiry include weather bureau activities.

Injured Being Taken From Hurricane Area

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The coast guard cutter 244 today radioed that all injured persons from both upper and lower Matecumbe Keys are being ferried to Snake creek for transportation by ambulance to Miami and that relief workers are gathering the bodies of the dead.

The cutter, now in the keys, told divicional headquarters here through a message relayed by the Fort Lauderdale station that the keys are being evacuated.

It said national guardsmen and medical aid had reached the storm refugees in upper and lower Matecumbe and the injured after receiving emergency treatment on the spot, were being taken by Ferry to Snake Creek to the north. From that point ambulances will take them to Miami.

While saying that national guardsmen, and other relief workers were "gathering bodies," the cutter did not say how many had been recovered.

The coast guard boat Yamacraw out of Savannah, Ga., had been ordered to the keys as a hospital ship but the 244 said all hospitalization cases would be cared for before the Yamacraw could arrive.

The intended hospital boat will be ordered on other duties, headquarters here said.

Tanker Disabled.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 5.—(AP)—The coast guard cutter Nemesis out of St. Petersburg today radioed divisional headquarters here it was standing by the disabled tanker C. B. Watson in heavy seas of Acolote Key on the Florida West coast.

The Nemesis said the tanker was too heavy for it to tow in the rough weather. It did not report how many were aboard the disabled craft.

A tug, owned by the same company operating the C. B. Watson, is en route from Tampa to tow the tanker back to port there, the coast guard cutter said.

During Tuesday night's hurricane, the Nemesis said, the tanker had to cut loose a barge it was towing. One man was aboard and the cutter expressed fear he had been lost in the storm swept sea.

The Nemesis also reported that the motorship Nunoc, which left the Isle of Pines August 30 with an undetermined number of passengers aboard, was overdue at Egmont Bar.

Report Called Absurdity.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 5.—(AP)—A report to Gov. Sholtz from W. P. Mooty, the governor's personal representative in the storm zone, that casualties in the keys "might reach 1,000," was characterized as "an absolute absurdity" today by Leonard K. Thomson, chairman of the Red Cross disaster relief committee.

"I have seen no reports as yet that would influence us to raise our estimate of death toll which is now between 270 and 300," Thomson said.

Citrus Crop Only Slightly Damaged

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Florida's maturing citrus crop was reported today by Harold Crews, assistant general manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange, as only slightly damaged by the high winds accompanying the hurricane which skirted the peninsula.

Loss is greatest, he said, in the coastal counties of the citrus belt—Lee, Sarasota, Manatee, Hillsborough, and Rinellas. But he added:

"On the east coast from Fort Pierce northward, including the Indian river section, practically no fruit is off, and there has been practically no loss in the interior part of the state. I've checked all over the northern part of the fruit belt, and found no damage."

Crews said he had a report from a big grove in Lee county (Fort Myers) 25 miles inland that 35 per cent of the fruit is on the ground. He said it was expected that the loss in Pinellas county (St. Petersburg) would be greater than in any other section. He added that it would be several days before an accurate check can be made of the loss.

Until Jeze started his speach, Aloisi had sat at his usual seat at the council table. He declared yesterday that Italy could no longer meet Ethiopia in the league on a basis of equal footing.

Tonight's session was called suddenly after the representatives of the various nations had spent the day in private discussions of the crisis between Italy and Ethiopia.

Most particularly, they were concerned with Baron Aloisi's statement yesterday that Ethiopia was a barbarous, uncivilized nation which should not be permitted a seat with other countries.

Professor Jeze's speech was in answer to Aloisi's allegations.

STANDARD VACUUM COMPANY CANCELS OIL CONCESSION

ACTION BELIEVED TO HAVE ERASED ALL CHANCE OF U. S. WAR ENTANGLEMENTS

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Standard Vacuum Oil Company's cancellation of a gigantic Ethiopian oil concession was believed today to have erased all chance of United States entanglement in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

Secretary Hull's diplomatic manuever in persuading the oil firm to drop its plans for African exploitation was credited by informed observers with having clarified issues in the controversy between Italy and the Abyssian empire. These observers also saw the move as a bold stroke destined to aid Great Britain and other European nations in their attempts to calm the troubled East African scene.

A Hyde Park, N. Y., President Roosevelt was said to be "delighted" at the turn of events "because he regarded the contract so upsetting to peace negotiations." The League of Nations met in a special session at Geneva today in an effort to avert war.

The question of another American oil and mineral concession remained to be settled. This is held by Leo Y. Chertok, New York broker, who said he received the concession as security for a loan of $1,000,000 to be raised by Oct. 17.

Call at State Department.

The Standard Vacuum issue was settled after George S. Walden, chairman, and H. Dundas, vice president, called at the state department for advice. They conferred with Wallace Murray, chief of the Near Eastern division, and told him Francis Rickett, British promoter, had acted for them in negotiating the concession with Emperor Haile Selassie.

Later Secretary Hull issued a statement saying:

"The officials were informed that the granting of this concession had been the cause of great embarrassment not only to this government but to other governments who are making strenuous and sincere efforts for the preservation of peace x x x."

Walden and Dundas communicated with associates in New York and then informed Secretary Hull they had decided to accept his advice. They said the Ethiopian emperor would be notified they were withdrawing from the deal.

Oil Official Said Initiative Taken

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(AP)—George S. Walden, chairman of the board of the standard Vacuum oil company, said today that the Washington conference resulting in its abandonment of the vast Ethiopian concession was "on our own initiative."

He said that "we felt it was our duty in a matter of this kind so consult the department of state as soon as we received confirmation that the concession had been granted." He added the concession was negotiated and had been granted in a "routine manner."

"I told Secretary Hull that we wished to be guided by the advice and wishes of the state department," said the oil man in a statement explaining the company's position.

"If retention of the concession were to become in any way an embarrassment we stated that we were ready to terminate it.

"We realize, of course, that the government of the United States has a responsibility for protection of American property and investments abroad as a fundamental prnicipie of international law."

"But at the same time," he continued, "the consummation of the negotiations, begun long before the present Ethiopian question became acute, did appear to be an embarrassment to our government."

He added that no American corporation seeking to preserve international peace "would wish to assert its legal rights in the face of the embarrassing problems that might arise by such insistence."

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Members of the Ethiopian government appeared nonplussed today when informed that the Standard Vacuum Oil Company had withdrawn from its Ethiopian concessions on representations from the state department of the United States. They declined immediate comment.

Observers here assumed that the United States government wished to avoid being drawn into the already acutely delicate political situation which has arisen between this nation and Italy and that Washington wished to avoid compromising the American relationship with Italy.

Emperor Haile Selassie was not immediately informed of the cancellation.

ROOSEVELT PLEASED WITH CANCELLATION OF OIL CONCESSION

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 4.—(AP)—President Roosevelt expressed the hope today the cancellation of the Ethiopian land lease would aid peace negotiations abroad and declared the concellation "another proof that since March 4, 1933, dollar diplomacy is not recognized by the American government."

Talking with newspapermen at the regular semi-weekly press conference, the President observed that by no stretch of the imagination had he or the secretary of state been the least concerned over the possibility of the oil lease to private interests in this country involving the U. S. in the Ethiopian or Italian problem.

He said that no one who knows the administration would think that it could be involved. The only danger, he said, would be the effect of the lease on the negotiations of the European powers and Ethiopia now getting under way at Geneva.

The withdrawal of the lease he hoped would clear the air of those conferences.

"This is another proof," he stated, "that since March 4, 1933, dollar diplomacy is not recognized by the American government."

Cancellation of the lease was announced last night by Secretary Hull.

VOTED TO MEET WITH NORTHERN VETERANS AT GETTYSBURG 1938 GRAY-CLAD WARRIORS OF SIXTIES

By VESTEL LOTT
Associated Press Staff Writer

AMARILLO, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Feeble, but proud Confederate veterans agreed today to forget any differences that might have remained and meet with the grand army of the republic in a joint reunion of Civil war veterans at Gettysburg, Penn., in 1938.

The fading remnant of the boys who wore the grey in the war between the states, voted unanimously to accept an invitation to the proposed blue and gray reunion on the Gettysburg battlefield, where nearly 30,000 soldiers lost their lives in a three-day battle in 1863.

Paul Roy of Gettysburg extended the invitation on behalf of the Pennsylvania state commission and Governor George H. Earle of that state.

He reminded that Confederate and Union forces, meeting at Gettysburg in 1913, had agreed to return 75 years after the battle for a final get-together.

The aged soldiers rose, waved their arms and cheered with husky voices as the United States Marine band played "Dixie," immortal song of the Southland, at the opening session of the forty fifth annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans.

General Rice A. Pierce of Union City, Tenn., commander-in-chief of the veterans, and General Harry Rene Lee of Nashville, Tenn., adjutant-general and chief of staff, adddressed their comrades.

Carl Hinton, reunion director and past commander of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, urged acceptance of the invitation for the joint rally of the opposing forces of the 60's.

The vote on the joint reunion came after Roy assured the veterans they would be free to carry the "Stars and Bars" of the Confederacy when and where they pleased.

The Confederates had balked at previous invitations when the G. A. R. said they must carry a furled flag at the joint reunion.

Roy said he would present a similar invitation to the meeting of the G. A. R. at Grand Rapids, Mich., next week.

By VESTEL LOTT
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

AMARILLO, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Confederate veterans, proudly wearing the drab gray that was much in evidence when Pickett made his famous charge on Cemetery Ridge, prepared to decide today whether they would again meet the Northern troops at Gettysburg.

Paul Roy of Gettysburg was here in behalf of the Pennsylvania state commission and Gov. George H. Earle of that state to extend an invitation to the Confederates to meet with the Grand Army of the Republic on the Gettysburg battlefield in 1938.

Roy said he would extend a similar invitation to the G. A. R. at the annual meeting of the group at Grand Rapids, Mich., next week.

The rapidly thinning ranks of Lees' forces that still quicken steps when the band strikes up "Dixie," had indicated they would accept the invitation for the Gettysburg meeting only on condition that they meet the Northern veterans on equal terms and be allowed ot unfurl the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy.

Gov. James V. Allred spoke to the veterans at their annual convention last night. He described the Confederate forces as "The greatest and bravest army of men that ever trod the earth."

Col. Walter Hopkins of Richmond, Va., commander in chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, told the aged veterans of the South:

"Although the flag under which you served no longer waves, the cause for which you fought will never die."

Sessions of the Confederated Southern Memorial Association were in progress simultaneously with those of the U. C. V. and the S. C. V.

The annual grand ball was on tonight's program with the United States marine band furnishing the music.
